

The Bias/Variance Tradeoff

Bias is the error introduced by approximating a real-world problem with a simplified model.

Variance is the model's sensitivity to fluctuations in the training data.

Reducing bias often increases variance and vice versa. Finding the right balance is crucial for creating a model that generalizes well to unseen data.